

Understanding & Managing Mental Health for Managers' Webinar

3 external CPD points

Introduction

This live webinar has been designed to increase a manager's confidence and competence in leading the conversation around mental health with an employee.

We have included a section on looking at the emotional impact of Covid-19 as we recognise that managers are in the front line, have that all-important day to day contact and have a vital role in creating a positive workplace environment. The session also underlines the importance of manager self-care and building personal resilience.

Course structure

- 2.5 hour live webinar
